FOR IMMEDIATE RELEASE

Contact: Chris Tichio
Email: christichio@vitasupportmd.com

Monika Gloviczki Joins VitasupportMD as Chief Scientific and Clinical Advisor

Vast Experience to Support Company's Health and Wellness Efforts

Paramus, N.J., February 2, 2021 — Monika Gloviczki, M.D., PhD., has joined VitasupportMD as Chief Scientific and Clinical Advisor and adds her 20 years of experience in vascular science and research to the team.

Dr. Gloviczki is a peer-reviewed author of 18 peer-reviewed publications and her work has been cited countless times by peers in current vascular research. Further, Dr. Gloviczki was also assistant editor of the 3rd and 4th Edition of the Handbook of Venous and Lymphatic Disorders. She has been an active member of the American Venous Forum (AVF) and served as Chair and Member of the Venous Ulcer Guidelines Committee, Chair of the Lymphedema Committee and Member of the Varicose Vein Guidelines Committee.

Her accomplishments also include receiving the Mayo Clinic Department of Medicine Outstanding Research Fellow Award, as well as Research Collaborator of the Gonda Vascular Center, Division of Vascular Medicine.

Before joining VitasupportMD, from 1992 to 2007, Dr. Gloviczki served as Operational Assistant, Scientific Project Leader, Project Director and Chair of the Division for Therapy and Vascular Diseases at the Institut de Recherches Internationales SERVIER in Paris. It was here she specialized in preclinical and clinical research studies involving Micronized Purified Flavonoid Fraction (MPFF) and the development of new drugs for venous and lymphatic disorders. As a Chair of the Division, she chaired the MPFF pharmacovigilance committee and helped start the "International Venous Digest by Fax", a popular publication sent weekly to thousands of physicians worldwide.

As VitasupportMD expands its footprint in the venous and lymphatic nutraceutical spaces, Dr. Gloviczki's vast experience in the vascular field will further reinforce the company's stature as the leader in bioflavonoids.

VitasupportMD is a privately owned nutraceutical company headquartered in Paramus, New Jersey focusing on health and wellness. Its mission is to deliver the highest quality products to sufferers of venous and lymphatic disorders. The company's supplements are based on state-of-the-art science and technology, affordable and rich in bioflavonoids.

####

If you would like more information about this topic, please email Chris Tichio at christichio@vitasupportmd.com